THE DWELLING FINED AND SOME OF THE BODIES BURNEL UP-AN ATTEMPT TO LYNCH HIM AND ANOTHER, WHOM HE HAD IMPLICATED-LODGED | the Grand Army of the Republic and the Army IN THE ALEXANDEIA JAIL.

Lee Heffin and Joseph Dye, residents of Fauquier county. Va., were lodged safely in the Alexandria jail yesterday after a rough travel For the District of Columbia, Maryland and through the country to escape a crowd of irate Virginia, winds shifting to decidedly colder countrymen who had formed a vigilance comthrough the country to escape a crowd of irate mittee and decided to lynch both men as well as Detective J. P. Dustin of Williams & McElfresh's detective agency in this city. Dustin has been held a prisoner in the cell with Heffin for the purpose of obtaining a confession from him if possible, but his identity was not known by the citizens who had determined to take the law into their own hands and save the country the expense of a judicial in-

The crime was the most atrocious one committed in the vicinity of Warrenton, if not in the entire state, and Lee Heffin in his last confession takes the responsibility of it upon A WIDOW AND THREE CHILDREN.

The victims were Mrs. Kines, a widow, and her three children—a boy three years old and two girls nine and eleven years. The first Nos. 808, 810 and 812 12th street northeast to R. J. McLean for $3,000 each; also lot 13 in known of the crime was the morning after it was committed, when the house was discovered to be on fire and the citizens in the neighborhood rushed to the dwelling to save the inmates. Mrs. Kines and two of the children were burned to ashes, but the body of the remaining child was recovered before it had been reached by the flames. Lee Heffin, who lived at the house of Joseph

Dye, was the first one to spread the alarm, and after doing it he failed to return to the house to lend any assistance. This was thought to be queer conduct on his part, but when questioned about his actions he coolly answered: "I am feet to an alley, to A. D. Hagen

The commonwealth's attorney of the county

risited here a week ago last Sunday and procured the services of Williams & McLifresh's detective agency. Messrs. Robert H. Smith and J. P. Dustin of the agency were sent down to inquire into the case and secure the culprits if possible, and they succeeded.

After Heftins arrest he implicated Joseph Die and his family and for that reason Dye was also placed under arrest. Sunday Detec-tive Dustin was placed in the cell with Hefin and the latter looked upon him as a prisoner. Hestin's vague story of the crime implicated Dye and after the latter the move was made to lynch the trio. They were in the jail at Calverton and fearing the jailer would be overpowered and his prisoners taken, they left the jail Thursday afternoon and drove fifty miles in a wagon, spending the night in the woods. Early yesterday they boarded a train at Nokesville and went to Alexandria. HEFLIN'S LAST CONFESSION.

On the way to Alexandria Heffin made a full confession of the crime, exonerating Dye. The confession was made in the presence of a number of witnesses, so that there will probably be no difficulty in using it against him when the case comes to trial.

According to his confession Heffin visited the house about 8 o'clock on the evening before the burning of the house and inmates and knocked on the door. Mrs. Kines answered his call and he asked her for some money, he told him that she had none. Heffin went in the house and on the hearth in front of the fire place he noticed a stick of wood with a rough knot upon it. He picked up the heavy instrument and with one blow on the head he felled her to the floor. The one blow proved fatal. Turning, he saw the three-year-old child in bed, and turning over the innocent one, he dealt the boy a blow on the back of the neck killing him.

The next morning he returned to the house, saturated the place with coal oil and set fire to story brick house 1313 13th street, the lot being 22x110 feet to a 15-foot alley, to Miss H. J.

He told the officers exactly where he buried the money and one of them went to Warrenton this morning in search of the hidden treasure.

Joseph Dye will be released. Hefin says he wanted the money because h Beware of adulterated cheap wines and of a countryman who lives not far from the scene of the terrible crime. He does not seem at all alarmed about what he has done and the consequences that are likely to follow. His only trouble is that he connot get enough to

An Interview With Heffin. Special Dispatch to The Evening Star.

ALEXANDRIA, Nov. 28 .- A representative THE STAR visited Lee Heffin, who murdered a whole family at Warrenton and was brought here yesterday to avoid lynching, this morning and asked him some questions. He is not a tramp and has seldom been out of the neigh-borhood where he was born and where he committed the murder. He is a young white man, twenty-eight years old, and was born in the upper part of Stafford county near Providence Church, not more than thirty miles from the scene of the murder, and his parents still reside there. From his statements it appeared that he had been out of a place, and when he reached the neighborhood of Calverton, Fauquier county, he went to work as a farmlaborer for Mr. Dye, in the house, and Heffin, after making him-self acquainted with the surroundings of her secluded cottage and ascertaining that no one except the widow and her young children was likely to be in the house or its neighborhood turned over the matter in his mind and on the evening of the 18th of November went to the house and going in told the widow he wanted some money.

For about thirteen years I have been troubled with eczema or some other cutaneous disease which all remedies failed to cure. Hearing of the CUTICURA REMEDIES, I resolved to give them a trial. I followed the directions carefully, and it affords me much pleasure to say that before using two boxes of the CUTICURA, four cakes of CUTICURA SOAP and one bottle of CUTICURA RESOLVENT I was entirely cured. Thanks to your wonderful and the kernels have been scattered so that there is only one little place by his left ear, and that is healing nicely. Instead of a coating of scabs, he has a fine coat of hair, much better than that which was destroyed by the disease. I would that the whole world of sufferers from skin and blood diseases knew the value of your CUTICURA REME-DIES as I do. They are worth ten times the price at which they are sold. I have never used any other toilet soap in my house since I bought the first cake of your CUTICURA SOAP. I would be inhuman, as well as ungrateful, should I fail to speak well of and scommend them to every sufferer. I have spoken of hem, and shall continue to speak of them from the pulpit, in the homes and in the streets. Praying that you may live long, and do others the same amount of good you have done me and my child, I remain, your
